McIntosh Named Chairman of the Central Florida Chapter of the Duke University Alumni Admissions Advisory Committee

ORLANDO, FL – Attorney Daniel F. McIntosh, and partner with Lowndes, Drosdick, Doster, Kantor & Reed, P.A., was recently appointed to serve as Chairman of the Central Florida Chapter of the Duke University Alumni Admissions Advisory Committee (Duke AAAC). Mr. McIntosh, who graduated from Duke University in 1981, has been actively involved with the university and its recruiting efforts since graduating from Duke University. Composed of over 3500 active alumni interviewers, Duke AAAC ensures that nearly every applicant to Duke University has the opportunity to be interviewed by a Duke University alumni during the admissions process. AAAC volunteers are not only a resource for applicants, but they also serve as ambassadors for the university.

A partner in the Real Estate Transactions, Finance, Commercial Leasing, Asset-based Lending and Securitization practice, Mr. McIntosh focuses his practice on multi-site, multi-jurisdictional real estate acquisitions, dispositions, leasing and financing, title review and analysis of survey, environmental, leases, zoning, flood zones, and document recordation requirements and fees. Experienced in negotiating, drafting and reviewing acquisition, leasing and financing documentation, Mr. McIntosh additionally concentrates on title and survey issues, including review, analysis and solving title issues and obtaining insurance coverage for residential, restaurant, gasoline and convenience store, golf course, ski resort, hotel, condominium, and shopping center properties. In addition, Mr. McIntosh handles environmental matters which include sophisticated review and analysis of environmental due diligence and resolution of issues with regulatory agencies.
